A first impression

This mid-terrace house in the historic "Oberschöneweide estate" was built around 1920. On a plot of approx. 180 m², approx. 81 m² of living space is spread over four levels with 3.5 rooms, a kitchen, two bathrooms and approx. 25 m² of usable space in the basement. The property offers enough space for both a couple and a small family. The house is entered via a small staircase. From the hallway, a wooden staircase leads to the upper floor and to the right to the spacious living room. The fitted kitchen is equipped with SIEMENS appliances and there is enough space for a dining area. The entire first floor is fitted with roller shutters for security and comfort. Upstairs there is a shower room with a small window and two further rooms. The smaller room is ideal as a study and the larger room leads to the converted attic via a staircase. Here you will find a hallway with plenty of storage space and another spacious room. The building has a full basement and offers space in the basement for a bathroom with bathtub, a storage room with washing machine connection and the boiler room, which provides access to the garden. The garden, which was only fitted with a new fence this year, has an approx. 9 m² terrace and plenty of green space for green fingers or children. The detached house is located in a quiet family development. Shopping facilities for daily needs, schools, kindergartens, sports facilities as well as restaurants, cafés and bars are in the immediate vicinity. The surrounding area invites you to take long walks in the Volkspark Wuhlheide or along the Spree. You can reach more distant destinations by car via the nearby Autobahn 96a (Adlergestell) and by public transport via various S-Bahn lines (S3/8/9). Immerse yourself in the best of urban elegance and natural tranquillity. Make this up-and-coming district your new home and experience the exclusive flair of Berlin-Oberschöneweide

All about the location

Geography: Oberschöneweide, a district in the Berlin borough of Treptow-Köpenick, is picturesquely situated along the River Spree in the south-east of the capital. The area is characterized by its green banks, quiet residential streets and historic industrial architecture. Location and traffic: Thanks to its ideal location, Oberschöneweide has excellent connections to Berlin's transport network. The Schöneweide S-Bahn station offers fast connections to the city center and other parts of the city. The A113 and A117 highways offer easy access to the German highway network and Schönefeld Airport. Infrastructure: The infrastructure in Oberschöneweide is very well developed. Schools, kindergartens, shopping facilities and medical care facilities are available in the immediate vicinity. The nearby shopping facilities offer a variety of stores and restaurants for daily needs. Economy: Oberschöneweide benefits from a diverse economic structure, ranging from small craft businesses to large industrial companies. Its proximity to the Berlin University of Applied Sciences (HTW) and Humboldt University also makes the district attractive for start-ups and research institutions. Leisure and nature: Oberschöneweide offers numerous recreational opportunities for nature lovers and recreational sports enthusiasts. Picturesque riverside paths along the Spree are ideal for walking and cycling. The nearby Plänterwald forest with its extensive green spaces and playgrounds offers ideal conditions for family outings and outdoor leisure activities. The park railroad in Volkspark Wuhlheide and the adjacent Parkbühne Wuhlheide are also nearby. Concerts for up to 17,000 visitors take place here every summer. Almost adjacent to this is the stadium of 1.FC Union. Overall, Oberschöneweide offers an attractive combination of urban life, natural beauty and an excellent infrastructure, making the district a sought-after place to live in Berlin. Industrial areas, old Wilhelminian-style buildings, housing estates from the 1920s and 1930s and new buildings from the 1960s and 1970s as well as allotment gardens.
